

Dec. 9, 2018

“At The Intersection Of Heaven And Earth”

(Luke 3:1-6)

Plato taught that all humanity can see on its own are _____ in a dark _____.

The simplest Christian believer _____ that into that dark cave of the _____ condition God has shown a _____ light.

That is what _____ and _____ are all about!

God, through Jesus, shows us what He himself is like within the bounds of our human ability to _____.

#1.- God has come _____ in Jesus Christ.

Christ is the exact _____ of God reduced to _____ size.

Why did God come down? Because that was the only way He could _____ Himself to us.

#2.- God _____ himself in our behalf.

God needed to _____ his love to us and so he humbled himself.

He moved into a _____ smaller than ours.

He humbled himself in the tiny town of Bethlehem in order to communicate to us his love and his _____.

#3.- Humanity has been _____ up.

Even though we are _____ of any action on God’s part, God came down that we might be _____ up.

God took on human _____ in order that he might reveal to us his great love for us. We are that _____ to God!

#4.- _____ has drawn near!

That was the _____ of John the Baptist in the wilderness.

We know that his _____ was that the world through him might be _____. But what is our _____ to that stupendous news?

What good is God’s _____ of his Son if we have not _____ our heart to His love?

Where the _____ and the _____ intersect, there is the _____ of Jesus Christ!

There is only one gift we can offer him in return. That is to _____ the gift that he offers us.

So, where God and humanity _____, that’s where we find the _____!

Advent reminds us that what we’re waiting for, the _____ of God, has come to us!

Have you received Him?

That is our gift, to receive Him, and then live for Him!

(over)