“Two Kinds Of People”
(Jeremiah 17: 5-10)

Jeremiah says there are indeed two kinds of people. One kind he calls _____; the other he calls _____.

The life of the cursed he compares to a low _____ in the desert.

The life of the blessed, he compares to a _____ planted by the waters.

If you belong to the first group, here's what you need to do: Absolutely _____!

You don't have to care about anything or anybody in the world except _____!

It's so easy to live in a _____. All you have to do is _____ into yourself.

Most people actually prefer the _____.

According to Jeremiah, “the heart is _____ above all things and desperately _____.”

It tells us that the path to happiness is the path of least _____.

What it does not tell us is the _____.

If we don't watch it, a vast erosion can take place – an erosion of _____ and principles and _____.

On the other hand, if we want to join the other group, there are some _____ we must take.

In God's world there is no _____ to be reaped unless a seed has been _____!

SOME THINGS WE WILL NEED TO DO:
(over)

1.- We will need to learn to _____ God!

It's not enough to _____ God, or honor God, or _____ God, or believe in God. We will be barren deserts until we learn to _____ God!

It's difficult to find one semblance of trust in God in the way we _____ our life as a nation.

It's also true in the way we live our lives as individuals:
~We dare not _____ our money!

~ We dare not adhere to high _____ and _____ principles either.

If we are truly going to experience _____ life, then we are going to have to _____ to trust God!

2.- We need to see the _____ God offers us!

To believe that, even in the _____, a stream of life-giving water still flows!

You can learn to genuinely _____ about people.

God can turn your scars into _____! Turn your mess into a _____!

Charles Spurgeon: “Many a believer lives in the cottage of _____ when he might live in the mansion of _____.”

The choice is ours on how we live our life....living as if everything in life depends on _____....or trusting God and looking for God's _____ for our life!

Two Kinds of People...
Which are you?... A thriving “_____” or a withering “_____”?

The KEY is to relax and to TRUST God!
